R. VANDERBILT CAUSES A BUNAWAY.

His Automobile Frightens a Team - Mrs. Sands

and Mrs. Elliott in Danger.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 17 .- The automobile in the hands of society people is furnishing more excitement in Newport than ever be fore. Searcely a day passes that an accident s not reported. Reginald Vanderbilt, with his big gasolene machine, has again caused a runaway. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. William

H. Sands and Mrs. Duncan Elliott were driving on Kay street in a beach wagon behind two spirited horses driven by Mrs. Sands's coachman when Mr. Vanderbilt was seen coming in the opposite direction. His automobile makes a loud noise, and it proved too much for the horses. When Mr. Vanderbilt got bolting, broke the harness and started at it was too late. The damage had been done.

With the breaking of the harness, the pole of the wagon dropped to the ground, and as the horses tore along the pole went swinging between them. The coachman was unable to stop his horses, but he hung on to the reins, realizing that to give the animals their heads would mean the upsetting of the wagon. Mrs. Sands stood up and grasped to Mrs. Sands, and in this manner the tray them to a standstill, and jumping out, grabbed their heads while the two women got what assistance he could give. Those who saw the affair expected to see the women thrown out at any moment, and all are loud in their praise for the pluck of the coach-

This afternoon there was a collision between an automobile and a bicyclist, in which the latter was thrown and had his leg broken,

The automobile was being driven by a professional chauffer and the occupants were Miss Redmond and a young woman friend. In some way it struck the wheelman and he went flying through space and when picked up it was found that his leg was broken,

The ambulance was sent for and the man was taken to the hospital, Miss Redmond following and giving orders for every assistance possible to be rendered. She said that she would pay the bills. The collision happened on cannot be ascertained.

Bellevue avenue, but just who is to blame

There is much indignation in Newport be cause of the speed with which some of the automobiles go through the streets. It is Jean Baptiste Church.

ing to the horses' fright.

Mr. Vanderbilt stopped his machine, but breakneck speed through Kay street.

S. ANARGYROS' New Turkish

CIGARETTE

POSBURGH TRIAL TO-DAY:

SENERAL BELIEF THAT THE STATE

Thought That Notther the State's Officers Nor the Grand Jury Would Listen to Triding or Hearsny Incidents - Befomes All at Sea as to the Pressention's Systemos Total Festurge Arraigned in Court. PITTSFIELD, Mass., July 17.-Young obert Stewart Fosburgh, whose trial ill begin to-morrow morning, was arraigned this afternoon at the bar of the Superior Court Criminal Term before Judge one and pleaded not guilty to the indictment of mansiaughter, charging him with the killing of his eighteen-year-old sister, May Foeburgh, in the family home in Westminster street, this city, in August of last year. It was the first time since the charge was made against the young man that he had appeared before a legal tribunal of any sort. Under the laws of Massachusetts an indictment for manslaughter may be found thout any preliminary arraignment of the accused, and thus without giving him or his counsel any inkling of the nature of the evidence against him. This course was pursued in the case of young Fosburgh. The indictment was asked for on the strength of evidence collected by the Chief of Police, Mr. Nicholson, who laid it before the District Attorney, Mr. Gardner, who, in his turn, presented it to the Grand Jury. The indictment was duly found and young Fosburgh was arinvolved his being locked up over Sunday. as, owing to the day and hour selected for his apprehension, he was unable to get ball until the following Monday.

On that following Monday the required bond of $10,000 was provided and since then he has been at liberty and about his usual vocation. Thus it has happened that the accused has been living since the middle of last winter with this charge hangng over him, a position all the more trying from the mystery which enveloped all the evidence on which the indice was found, as well as all the evidence on which the State intends to ask a jury of twelve men to find him guilty.
Chief Nicholson and the District Attorney have guarded their secrets in respect to this remarkable case with great skill and watchfulness. Neither young Fosburgh nor his counsel, Mesers. Hibbard and Joyner, have the slightest clue to the evience the State is going to produce, save what they may have happened to hear at the street corners or to read in the newspapers. In other words, they know no more than the public at large knows and what the public at large knows is altogether of such a general and incoherent character that the curiosity here is of the keenest to know what the grave and doubtless weighty matters are against the young nan which the Chief of Police and the ounsel of the State are prepared to produce.

The attitude of public opinion here is one of expectancy. Robert E. Fosburgh himself and particularly his family have many warm and cordial friends in Pittsfield. Some of these go so far in the ardor of their friendship as to denounce the arrest of the young man as unwarranted. On the other hand they are met with the reminder by those of cooler heads that whatever the evidence is it certainly was serious enough to warrant a Grand Jury in Ending that it sustained a presumption of guilt.

the ordeal of having one of its members murdered before their very eyes and that in addition to this almost maddening affliction, he would add to their agony, by charging one of themselves with being the murderer, unless he had evidence of the fact so overwhelming that it literally forced him to take a step which no man up to even an orang-outaing standard of feeling could take without great pain.

That anything like malice or vindictiveness could enter into an official act of this kind is regarded as a proposition little short of an insult to humanity. Not only is it believed that the chief of police has prepared for the State evidence of a convincing sort, but it is still further believed that this evidence is of a character entirely different from that which has been rumored. These rumors, as to the nature of the State's evidence, have all been in the line of small circumstances, many of them, in the manner in which they were publicly related, decidedly weak. People who know Chief Nicholson say that it is far from him to rely upon a chain of circumstances in a case of this kind unless each link in the chain is strong and complete.

If the discumstances agrained agrainst stances in a case of this kind unless each link in the chain is strong and complete.

If the circumstances as rumored against Foeburgh are weak then say Mr. Nicholson's friends, it may be relied upon that those are not the circumstances which sonvinced him of young Foeburgh's guilt, it is the talk of the town that the chief has some startling surprise. It is this belief that explains the intense curiosity there is to hear the State's testimony, a curiosity which is the one overshadowing fact to be recorded just now on the eve of the trial.

From a legal standpoint, moreover,

From a legal standpoint, moreover, the case is one of much interest. It is a case wherein presumably a formidable array of direct testimony on the part of the defence will be met by the testimony that, it is believed, will be nearly if not quite all circumstantial. It is now understood that fully five persons who were in Mr. Form circumstantial. It is now understood that fully five persons who were in Mr. Fosturgh's home on the night his daughter was killed will testify positively to the presence of burglars or intruders of some tind in the house that night. If there were burglars or intruders in the house then the case for the State, it would seem, must fall to the ground. Therefore, so far as is known, the prosecution has before it the task of proving that the story of the burglars is a myth and that if the entire Fosturgh family testifies that there were such burglars or intruders, then that the entire burgh family testifies that there were such burglars or intruders, then that the entire family, father, mother, son, daughter, and daughter-in-law are combined in a conspiracy of perjury to shield the accused. And to accomplish this task circumstantial evidence and the possibility of breaking down the testimony of the Fosburghs themselves on cross-examination are all that there is to rely upon.

This interesting situation, together with the impossibility of conceiving anybody so inhuman as to bring a charge in a case of this kind, unless it were based on the most convincing evidence, is what makes it a of this kind, unless it were based on the most convincing evidence, is what makes it a matter of conviction in everybody's mind to-night that in the trial which will begin to-morrow the State has a surprise of the biggest kind for the defence to meet.

The arraignment of young Fosburgh this afternoon was but the perfunctory prologue to the court room drama to-morrow. It was just before the midday receas and after the jury in a commonplace assault case had gone out that the young man appeared. There were a few of his friends only and a reporter or two among the only and a reporter or two among the spectators. It was not known generally spectators. It was not known generally that the ceremony was to take place, other-wise the court room doubtless would have been crowded, for the local interest in this case, notwithstanding the eleven months that the story has been threshed out over and over again, seems to be as lively as Dressed in a dark, neatly fitting business Dressed in a dark, neatly fitting business suit young Fosburgh leaned quietly on the rail enclosing the space reserved for counsel waiting to be called upon to reply for the first time in a legal tribunal to the charge against him. Herbert C. Joyner of Great Barrington, who is associated with Charles E. Hibbard of this city in the defence, appeared as Fosburgh's legal adviser.

The proceedings were purely of a routine nature. The indictment was read and to the usual question of guilty or not

Beautiful Skin Soft White Hands Luxuriant Hair

Produced by

MILLIONS USE CUTICURA SOAP, essisted by Cuticura Ointment, for beautifying the akin, for cleansing the scalp and the stopping of falling hair, for seftening, whitening, and soothing red, rough hands, for beby raches, itshings, and chaffings, and for all the purposes of the tellet, bath, and nursery. Millions of women use CUTICURA SOAP in baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, excortations, or too free or offensive perspiration, in washes for ulcerative weaknesses, and for many sanative, antiseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women and mothers.

Complete Treatment for every Humour. Complete Treatment for every Humour. Curroura Soap, to cleanse the skin of eruse and scales, and soften the thickened cuticle, and Curroura OINTHENT, to instantly aliay itching, inflammation, and irritation, and goothe and heal, and Curroura Resolvent, to cool and cleanse the blood.

guilty Fosburgh in a natural and clear voice replied:
"Not guilty."
District Attorney John W. Hammond then asked the Court for permission to have John C. Crosby of this city authorized to assist the prosecution. A peculiar condition of affairs brought about this request. District Attorney Gardiner of Springfield has been ill for some time. He it was who laid before the Grand Jury the evidence on which Fosburgh was indited.

dited.

Soon after he was forced to abandon the case as well as other work and he turned field. Some of these go so far in the ardor of their friendship as to denounce the arrest of the young man as unwarranted. On the other hand they are met with the reminder by those of cooler heads that whatever the evidence is it certainly was serious enough to warrant a Grand Jury in finding that it sustained a presumption of guilt.

It also is agreed that it is impossible that the Chief of Police would have taken action that Mr. Nicholson did on any mere, filmsy indications of oulpability. It is inconceivable, people say, that he would hound and harass a family that had been through the ordeal of having one of its members murdered before their very eyes and that its negative and the case for the State.

torney, but was not to take the lead or the management of the case for the State.

Preparations for the trial have been all made and it is believed that the first witnesses will be on the stand before court takes the midday recess. As in New Jersey, Massachusetts courts do not carry the matter of jury system to the grotesque lengths permitted in New York. Each side has only two peremptory challenges and the questions as to having "formed an opinion," "being able to throw saide that opinion," and the like are much curtailed. Mr. Hibbard of counsel for Fosburgh said to-day that he had no doubt a jury would be secured before noon to-morrow and probably within an hour after the opening of court.

to-day that he had no doubt a jury would be secured before noon to-morrow and probably within an hour after the opening of court.

"We are entirely in the dark," continued Mr. Hibbard, "as to what evidence the State has collected. Undoubtedly this puts us at a great disadvantage. Circumstances quite easy of explanation may be presented in such a manner as in themselves to seem suspicious. Did we know the evidence as to such circumstances we might be prepared with evidence to refute it. When it is sprung upon us the persons in possession of our explanatory or contradictory evidence may be at a distance beyond reach. Undoubtedly this is a hardship. With my present light, however, it is utterly impossible for me to conceive how a verdict against Mr. Fosburgh can be found. The State, none the less, has guarded its case excellently well. We know nothing about it save what has been matter of public rumor. The entire Fosburgh family are now assembled at the Wendell House, where Mr. and Mrs. Fosburgh, Sr., have lived practically ever since the tragedy."

"We never lived in that house again," said Mr. Fosburgh, the elder, to-day. "The tragedy occurred on a Monday morning. The funeral was on the following Wednesday. We did not go back to the house after the funeral. We did not feel that we could stay in it. A friend of mine had a furnished house standing empty here in the city and we went there and stayed for a few days, but none of us could sleep, Mrs. Fosburgh and the other ladies of the family were constantly starting up at every noise in the night, thinking it was burglars. So we packed up and came here to the Wendell, where we have lived ever since. In what is before us we stand on the truth and only ask that that be revealed as it is. We know what it is, know to our great grief."

Miss Fosburgh was killed, and who, it is expected, will be an important witness in the case, arrived here on Tuesday evening from her home in Providence, and she, too, is staying at the Wendell.

CLOTHIERS ACCUSED OF FORGERY.

The Zemans Arrested Here for an Alleged Frand in Hudson County, N. J. Simon N. and Isade D. Zeman, clothing manufacturers at 626 Broadway, were arrested yesterday on a warrant issued by Judge Blair of fludson county, N. J., chargjudge Blair of Hudson county, N. J., charging them with forgery. In the Centre street police court hagistrate Pool committed them to await requisition papers. The crime is alleged to have been committed last September. In the course of a foreciosure suit on some Bayonne property it is alleged that the Zemans introduced a fraudulent release. Vice Chancellor Pitney sent the matter to the Hudson county Grand Jury.

GYPSY "QUEEN" BAPTIZED. Try phone Becomes a Member of the Protestant

Episcopal Church. NEW BRUNSWICE, N. J., July 17,-The Rev.

NO SUPERPOSED TURRETS.

ONLY TWO OF THE BOARD ON COR-

14,000 Tups Displacement — Four 15-lack Coase in Two Armsted Tauretes Twenty 1-lack and Twenty S-lack in Constitute. Washington, July 17.—Rear Admirals O'Neill, Metrille and Bowles, composing the majority of the Board on Construction in their report of the plans for two new battle-ships, made public to-day by Secretary Long, orticise the minority of the board, consisting of Rear Admiral Bradford and Capt. Signbee, for advocating superposed turrets containing 12-inch and 8-inch guns, and an containing 12-inch and 5-inch guns, and an auxiliary battery of eights and sizes. Plans of the type of battleship recommended by the majority are appended to the report which also contains tables to show that the character and arrangement of the battery are superior to those features of the battery proposed by the minerity. The report says that the board has been unable to reach a unanimous agreement concerning the armament and its disposition, and now makes this preliminary report so that progress may be made on some definite designs. The plans of the battleship as submitted are as follows:

Length, 450 feet; beam, 76 feet; mean draught, 24 feet s inches; displacement, 15,500 tons. This displacement will give a ship draught, 14 feet a inches; displacement, 15,500 tons. This displacement will give a ship considerably larger than anything in the present navy. The hull alone will weigh about 7,000 tons, while the protective armor will weigh about 3,700 tons. The total coal capacity will be about 3,000 tons; total load displacement, 16,900; deep load draught, 26 feet 4 inches; speed, 15 knots, with an indicated horse power of 20,000.

The batter y recommended by the majority is to consist of four 12-inch guns in two

The batter y recommended by the majority is to consist of four 12-inch guns in two 10-inch armored turrets, twenty 7-inch guns in casements and twenty 1-inch guns. Bight of the 7-inch guns are inclosed in individual armor, four on the upper deck and four on the gun deck, firing shedd and astern. The remaining twelve guns are located on the gun dook in a central casemate battery. The machinery is protected by a 10-inch armor belt, tapering to four inches fore and aft beyond the machinery space, and the other protection consists of armor seven and six inches thick. except the 13-inch surrets, where it is ten inches thick.

The main difficulties between the majority and the minority of the board arose over the battery and its arrangement. The majority are opposed to the further use of superposed turrets and they recommend a uniform caliber of seven inches for what may be termed the auxiliary battery in preference to a mixed battery of 8-inch and 6-inch guns favored by the minority. In its comparison of the two plans the majority makes the point that the use of the superpessed turrets, favored by the minority, exposes four guns to disablement by a single shot, and by the mounting of the tweive 6-inch guns in a single casemate renders them all liable to be placed out of action by a single large shell charged with high ex-

Attention is also called to what is claimed to be a very important advantage in the majority's plan in providing for twenty 3-inch guns, as against eight of that caliber provided for by the minority. A comparison of the results of the fire of ships that participated in the battle of Manila is submitte to show that 8-inch guns not mounted in turrets on the Baltimore and the Boston gave greater rapidity of fire than the 8-inch turret runs of the Olympia. It is contended, also, that at the battle of Santiago there were only thirteen hits made by the $19 projectiles fired from 8-inch guns. The majority argues at length in favor of the proposed 7-inch guns, which, it con-tends far exceed the 8-inch guns in the extent of their range and the flatness of their tra-jectory. The majority holds that in pro-viding for uniformity of character, simplicity of mounting and separation of guns, it has presented a vessel more powerful than any yet built or projected by any Power.

A table is submitted to show that the twenty 7-inch guns of the majority plan will throw metal a minute from each proadside, and that the twelve s-inch and twelve s-inch guns provided for by the minor ity, while capable of throwing 4,500 pounds f metal a minute from one broadside, can throw only 3,300 pounds of metal a minute from the other broadside. All the main battery guns, except the 12-inch of the mafority's ship, will throw 8,330 pounds of meta except the 12-inch of the minority's ship, will throw 7,500 pounds of metal in a minute. Rear Admiral Bradford is preparing report of the minority.

FOUR AND A HALF DAYS' BOARD, $1,590 One of Widow's 8,000 Charges Which Daughter Objects To.

HACRENSACE, N. J. July 17 .- The hearing on the exceptions to the accounting of Mrs. of Brooklyn, executors of the estate of J. Otto Donner, late of the Sugar Trust, was up before Judge Zabriskie in the Orphans Court to-day and was adjourned until Oct, because the exceptant's counsel was not present when court opened, being an hour late. The exceptant is Mrs. Elizabeth Donner Frankson, daughter of Mr. Donner by his first wife, and heir to one-third of his es-

The exceptions embrace many items money paid to dry goods merchants, jewelmoney paid to dry goods merchants, jewellers, surriers, medistee, decorators, for rent of a house in Georgia and $1,400 for labor. One charge against the estate is for four and a half days board at the Holland House, amounting to $1,500, including $30 for theatre tickets. This bill is said to have been incurred shortly after Mr. Donner's death.

These charges and about three thousand smailer items, the exceptant contends, are chargeable to Mrs. Donner's personal account and not to the estate. It is also alleged that the executors have failed to account for $75,000 received for insurance on the mansion and personal property destroyed by fire at Darlington, and that the executors make no reference to the Ramapo keanels belonging to the estate and containing many valuable dogs. The inventory of the personal estate amounts to $170,000, which the exceptant declares is too low.

TO REBUILD STEWART'S RAILROAD. Old Line Between Garden City and Flushing

WILL Be Revived. The steam railroad built between Garden City and Flushing, L. I., in 1872 by A. T. Stewart is to be rebuilt and operated by electricity, according to a statement made by Henry C. Rath, a large real estate dealer in Flushing. Mr. Rath says he had a conforence with William H. Baldwin, President forence with William H. Baldwin, President of the Long Island Railroad Company, and was assured that now that the location of the Blackwell's Island bridge and the tunnel under the East River had been decided upon, the work of reestablishing the oid Stewart railroad would be started.

The line originally ran from Garden City to Flushing, passing through Floral Park and Creedmoor and terminating in Jamaica avenue near Rissena Creek, Flushing In order to reach that village it had to pass through a tunnel at Fowlerville. The railroad was operated in connection with the oid North Shore Railroad, now a part of the Long Island Railroad system. The Stewart line never paid and was abandoned in 1878. A portion of its track near Creedmoor and the section between Floral Park and Garden City are all that is left of the line with the exception of the embankments and one or two small bridges. The right of way is owned by the Long Island Railroad Company and all that is necessary is to regrade the route and lay the tracks.

Trying to Save Tale Elms.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 17.-Workmen to-day under the direction of Supt. Hotchkiss of the Yale campus began spraying with kerosene oil the elms on the campus and those that border on the campus property. These trees are covered with the elm tree beetle, a pest that has ruined hundreds of the elms here. Yale officials think that the kerosene comes too late because the lasect has already practically killed all the leaves.

HE WANTS HIS PRESENTS BACK. Publisher Linde and His Artist Friend Mr. Ingles Have Differed About Art.

TURKISH TROPHIES

Maurice Ingles, an artist, was arrested in his studio at 42 West Thirtieth street yesterday and taken to the Jefferson Market police court where Herman Linde, a publisher, of 141 West Sixty-seventh street, had charged him with withholding two etchings valued at with withholding two etchings valued at $250 apiece. A summons had just been issued for Ingles.

When Ingles was arraigned Linde said that the etchings were portraits of Gen. Grant and Admiral Dewey and were part of a rate edition. He had given the etchings to the defendant while they were friends. Subsequently they had differed about art, and now he wanted his etchings back. The prisoner wore a Van Dyke beard and a flowing tie. He explained that Linde could have the etchings back whenever he sent for them.

Why didn't you respond to the summons served on you? asked Magistrate Deuel.

"I did, Judge, and waited all morning until my lawyer, Marks Oppenheim, told me to go away," answered ingles.

"Then your attorney is to blame for your arrest," said the Magistrate, "but I shall not visit on you the consequences of his derelletion. This case is adjourned for twenty-four hours, and I think the possession of the etchings can be satisfactorily settled meantime." abreast of the team the horses shied, and,

BROKER WILSON ALIVE? Man Answering His Description Seen on New

the coachman, while Mrs. Elliott hung on Haven Train. went down the street. Mr. Vanderbilt turned LARCHMONT, July 17.-It was learned around and was after the runaway, but he to-day that one of the guests at the Mitchell could do no good, the noise behind only add-Hotel met a hatless and coatless man walking hastily toward the New York and New Haven railroad station at 11 o'clock on Sun-day night. The description of the man tallies For nearly a mile the horses went on day night. The description of the man tallies with that of Broker George R. Wilson who disappeared that night. It is also reported that a trainman saw this same hatless man on a New York train that left Larchmont at 11:20. It is reported that the mother of Mr. Wilson will offer $5,000 re "ri to-morrow for information regarding her son. is a steep hill and the coachman brought out. Mr. Vanderbilt offered apologies and

MARINE INTELLIGENCE

MINIATURE ALMANAC-THIS DAT: Sun rises.... 4:44 | Sun sets.. 7:27 | Moon sets.. 8: MIGH WATER-TRIS DAY. Sandy H xxk .. 9:20 | Gov. I'd .. 9:52 | Hell Gate . 11:48 Arrived-WEDNESDAY, July 17.

Arrived—WEDNESD LY, July 17.

SS Oceanic, Cameron, Liverpool, July 10.
SS Spartan Prince, Hanka, Genoa, June 27.
SS Ellamy, Simovon, Huelva, July 1.
SS King Frederick, Davis, Sagua, July 12.
SS Ask, Hanes, Banes, July 11.
SS Apache, Chichester, Jacksonville, July 16.
SS Princess Anne, Davis, Norfolk, July 16.
SS Benefactor, Swain, Philadelphia, July 16.
SS Bluefeids, Hastings, Baitimore, July 15.
SS Horatio Hall, Hardy, Portland, July 16.
SS Herman Winter, Grove, Boston, July 16.

ARRIVED OUT. Deutschland, from New York, at Cherbourg, St. Paul, fr'm New York, at Southampton. Marquette, from New York, at London. Pretoria, from New York, at Cherbourg. Servia, from New York, at Queenstown.

SAILED PROM FOREIGN PORTS. Ss Teutonie, fr. m Liverpool, for New York. Ss Kalser Wilhelm der Grosse, from Cherbourg for New York.

almost impossible to stop them in time to avert accident. The law limits the speed to GUTGOING STEAMSHIPS. Sall To-day.
Malls
Closs eight miles an hour, but they can be seen going all the way from that up to twenty VENERATING A RELIC OF ST. ANNE. Novena of the Saint's Feast Begun at St. The nine days of preparation for the Feast Prins Willem IV. Rayth. 19 00 A M Hamilton, Norfolk. Rio Grande, Brunswick. of St. Anne began yesterday at the Church of St. Jean Baptiste, in East Seventy-sixth street, near Third avenue. This church has been for nearly ten years the shrine of a relic of St. Anne, which has been reputed to have marvellous qualities for the curing of mortal ills. This year's celebration of the feast of St. Anne marks a change in the place of deposit of the relic in the church. Heretofore the relic has been enshrined in the altar. The possession of the relic has been the dis-Wordsworth, North I Zulia, Venezuela... Anache, Charleston... Comus, New Orleans Jefferson, Norfolk... IRCOMING STEAMSHIPS.

the relic has been enshrined in the altar. The possession of the relic has been the distinguishing mark of the church and the cures which have been said to have been brought about by its veneration have been the subject of great comment and no little excitement ever since it was brought to the church. A few months ago Archbishop Corrigan assigned the care of the church to the Order of the Blessed Sacrament. The rules of this order require the continuous exposure of the blessed sacrament on the altar of the church. It is inconsistent with this practice that the relic be also exposed at the same time. So Miss Anne Leary, who has been interested in the welfare of the Order of the Blessed Sacrament ever since its introduction to this country recently, provided for the building of a new shrine for the relic in the crypt.

There it was exhibited yesterday to the hundreds of sick and well folks who visited the church to venerate the relic. Several expressed the belief that the relic would better their condition. One woman whose sight was weak told Father Monnier that after venerating the relic she was able to see a great deal better than when she entered the church. The church was crowded all day and all the evening.

The relic is a piece of the bone of St. Anne's left arm, near the wrist. It is about two and a half inches long. It is ket in a case about fur inches long. Overed with glass. After each mass and after the evening benediction the raile is brought out from the brine and shown to the people who gather at the chancel rail to look upon it and to kiss the case which contains it.

Archbishop Corrigan was at the church yesterday morning at the mass at which the new shrine was dedicated. Miss Leary was also there. Due To-uny. landaif City .... Hamburg . Plymouth . Hull . Liverpool . Gibraltar . St. Lucia . Galvestor trooklyn City.

Philadelphian. Archimede....

day, July 23.

Wagner Night at the St. Nicholas Garden. The Wagner numbers to be played by the Kaltenborn Orchestra at the St. Nicholas Garden to-night, will be from "Tannhauser," "Slegfried," "Tristan und Isolde" and "Parsifat." Selections to be played before the intermission will include the "Fest Overture" by Lassen, the "Ballet Suite" from "La Korrigane" by Widor, and a Strauss waits. MISS OPPENHEIN'S EXPENSIVE BATH. While She Was Tubbing, She Says, Male Caller Ran Off With $1,400 Worth of Jewelry.

O FOR O C

William S. Gibson of Flatbush was arraigned before Judge Aspinall in the County Court in Brooklyn yesterday on a charge of stealing $1,400 worth of Jewelry and $31 in cash from Miss Dorsey Oppenheim of 245 West Fortyfourth street, Manhattan, on June 30 at the Brighton Beach Hotel. Gibson met Miss Oppenheim at the races at Sheepshead Bay. On the evening of June 30 Gibson was in her room at the hotel when Miss Oppenheim decided to take a bath. As she was leaving the room. Gibson, as alleged, said it might not be safe to leave so much jewelry unprotected, and volunteered to take care of it until she returned from the bath. Miss Oppenheim put the valuables in a silver bag and handed it over to Gibson, she says, and when she returned to the room Gibson had disappeared, Gibson was arrested in Atlantic City, where he was staying at one of the big hotels. The detective recovered all of the property, some of which had been nawned in Philadelphia. Gibson pleaded not guilty and was admitted to bail in $1,000. His mother deposited that amount in cash.

REQUISITION FOR QUALEY. Man Who Blacked Pat Egan's Eye to Be Brought to This City.

Requisition papers have been granted by Gov. Voorhees of New Jersey to bring John A. Qualey of Newark to this city for United States Minister to Chili, who charges United States Minister to Chili, who charges that Qualey converted to his own use certain shares in the United States Carbonate Company, whose works are in Newark. Qualey was recently arrested in Newark upon this charge after blacking Egan's eye in an altercation at the factory. He declared that his prosecution was a part of a scheme to freeze him out of the company which was created to conduct business by a process of his invention. The works in Newark were only recently completed and have been operated only for a demonstration. It was during this demonstration that Qualey hit Egan. Qualey is ready to give bail in New York.

HAS MOTHER ARRESTED FOR THEFT. Eighteen-Year-Old Son Thinks She Stele $504 Which He Won in a Lottery.

Mrs. Sophie Gavant of 81 Gerry street, Williamsburg, was arraigned in the Lee avenue police court yesterday on a charge of grand larceny preferred by her eighteenyear-old sen, Nathan Gavant. A few moaths ago Gavant says he won $3,750 in a lottery.
He had no faith in savines banks, and sewed the money in the lining of his trousers. Early in the morning about a week ago while pretending to be asleep he says he saw a person who he was certain was his mother meddling with his trousers, and later discovered that $500 from his cash roll was gone. He accused his mother of the theft and she denied it.
After a vain attempt to get back the money
Gavant secured a summons against his mother, charging her with grand larceny Mrs.
Gavant indignantly denied the charge. The Magistrate paroled her pending a hearing
Tuesday. grand larceny preferred by her eighteen-

Headless Body in the River.

A drowned man, with the head and arms missing, was found yesterday in the East River, just off the Government dock, foot of Pacific street, Brooklyn, and removed to the Morgue. The body had been in the water a long time, and this, the police believe, accounts for the disappearance of the head and arms. A tattered pair of brown trousers was the only part of the clothing remaining.

Foreign Botels.

TRIED TO DRUG A BARBER. White Smelled of a Bottle and Yelled for Police

SCOPYRIGHT ISOL S. ANARCYROS

Turkish Tobacco

Jail for Bottle's Owner. A man who said his name was Henry Brown and that he was a brakeman from Scranton, Pa., but who afterward gave his name as William McDermott, was sent to the penitentiary for sixty days by Recorder Stanton in Hoboken yesterday for attempting to chloroform James White, a barber's assistant, at 508 First street. According to White, McDermott came into the shop yesterday morning, and when told that the proprietor was out took the cork out of a bottle and asked White to smell. White did so, he said, and was about to be-come unconscious when he suspected some-thing wrong and shouted for the police. McDer mott ran, but was caught. The contents of the bottle will be analyzed, and if chloro-form McDermott will have to face another charge.

Social Events at Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 17 .- Cottage arrivals Newport to-day were Miss Whitehouse, Fitzhugh Whitehouse, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitehouse, the latter being the daughter of Sir George Duntze. A thunderstorm greatly marred social events arranged for this afternoon. Mrs. Frederick Neilsen and Mrs. William Carter entertained at lunch-con, and this evening dinners were given by Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish and Mrs. Pembroks Jones.

A Prosperous Jersey Town.

There is not an idle man in the borough of Edgewater, N. J. A number of factories have lately been erected along the river front there, and they are giving employment front there, and they are giving employment to a large number of men.

MARRIED.

DORPLINGER-DECKER .- On Tuesday, July 10 1901, at White Mills, Pa., by the Rev. J. R. Atkinson, Charles H. Dorflinger to Cornella

Decker. DIED.

CARDELLA.-At the Church of St. Francis Xavier West 16th st., on Thursday, July 18, 1901, at 9 o'clock, a mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of the soul of the Rev. Philip Cardella, S. J. Interment at St. John's College, Fordham.

KIERSTED -On Tuesday, July 16, 1901, Charlottes widow of Samuel Klersted. Puneral on Friday, July 19, 1901, at 1:30 P. M2 455 West 50th st.

McCARTHY .- On Tuesday, July 16, 1901, at her residence, 2 West 113th at., Ellen McCarthy, in the 70th year of her age.

Funeral will take place on Thursday, July 18, 1901 at 16:30 A. M., thence to the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, 118th st. and St. Nicholas av., where a solemn requiem mass will be offered for the repose of her soul. Relatives and friends Calvary.

IMMS .- On Tuesday, July 16, 1901, J. Frederick Simms, aged 37 years. Funeral services at his late residence, 192A 6th av.;

Brooklyn, on Thursday evening, July 18, 1901; at 6 o'clock. Friends are invited to attend without further notice.

New Publications.

$1-"7th Book of Moses," "Albertus Magnus,"
"Pepys's Diary," "Talmud." PRATT, 161 6th av.

Patents.

PATENTS for inventions procured promptly: low rates. ROEDER & BRIESEN (Frank V. Briesen), Fulton Building, 87 Nassau st., New York.

Foreign Hotels.

The Continental Hotel Berlin

remodelled and refurnished on a most sumptuous scale by Mess, Adlon and Klicks, well known in America. IMMEDIATELY OPP. THE CREAT CENTRAL STATION, Friedrich Strasse, with a sweeping front on three streets, and front rooms only. Entirely fireproof, magnificent large rooms, airy, cheerful, and absolutely quiet, with bathrooms attached. The restaurant is admitted superior to all competition, frequented by European nobility and foreign aristocracy. Orchestral music during dinner. MODERATE TARIFF AND NO EXTRAS.

Dr. Ingersoll's Wife Breaks Her Leg. Mrs. Ingersoll, wife of the Rev. Dr. B. P. Ingersell of the Immanuel Congregational Church in Brooklyn, is laid up at Asbury Park with a broken leg, the result of a bicycle accident. On Monday, while in the act of mounting her bicycle, she lost her balance and falling fractured the upper bone of the Two New School Principals in Brooklyn. John J. Malarky, who has been a teacher in the public schools in Manhattan for several years and who previously taught in schools in France, has been appointed principal of School 127 in Seventh avenue and Seventy-eighth street, Brooklyn. Miss Mary E. Lynch, head of department in School 101 in Brooklyn, has been appointed principal. London 'A TEMPLE OF LUXUAY' HOTEL GREAT London